The Shrine Club
April 22.

Dear Governor—Everything coming fine. This is the life. It seems there is no end of expense we are put to. Must have $20 extra for articulation fee, $6 for medical dictionary and $2.50 tennis fee.

Your son, Edward.

October 3.

Dear Dad—I have been down to the college this morning; saw the manager, or the Dean they call him. He is a fine man. I got a room just around the corner on the main street. I got up at 5 o’clock this morning. Nobody up. They sure do sleep a lot here.

Gee, Dad, I had to spend an awful sight of money, but I’ll get along somehow. Haven’t found any chores to do yet.

Yours truly, Ed.
October 15.

Dear Pa—Got up feeling kinder bad, so I didn’t go to church today. Thought I would just write a few lines to tell you what a fine time I am having. Met a couple of fine fellows this week. They took me to a big moving picture show and another show at the opera house. Golly, pa, how those women could dance! Better not tell ma. Well, the boys and I are going out for a walk, so will close.

Yours truly, Ed.

November 5.

Dear Pop—I expect you had better send me thirty-five dollars instead of twenty-five this month. My room was so small I didn’t have room to change my mind, so got a better one. Hope everything is going smooth at home. As ever, Ed.
General Information

In selecting a dental college there are many points to be taken into consideration by the prospective student. For instance, the healthfulness of the college town, the cheapness of living, the amount and quality of clinical material presented, and the facilities the college has for teaching, are all matters of considerable moment to any one who expects to spend time and money in the study of dentistry.

Health

Health is essential, of course, for without health the student cannot make use of the opportunities presented for acquiring an education, no matter how earnest his intention.

In this regard the city of Indianapolis challenges comparison with any city in the country.

The sanitary arrangements of the college are excellent, and we have had but one death during a college term, since the College was organized in 1879.

Living in Indianapolis is remarkably cheap, considering its population. The residence portion of the city is so closely related to the business district that boarding places are readily obtained within four or five blocks of the College, thus saving car fare, an important item in the course of months. Board and lodging may be obtained at prices varying from $3.50 to $7.00 per week. The average price paid by our students is probably $4.50 per week.

TO OUR ALUMNI AND FRIENDS:

We are enclosing our Spring Bulletin for your consideration and we hope, your approval.

The war has wrought many changes in all lines of endeavor and especially in the practice of dentistry and the demands thereon.

Indiana Dental College is exceedingly proud of the showing made by her Alumni in meeting this emergency, not only for the fact that so many have gone into active service or have qualified for a call to the colors, but because of the high-spirited manner in which they have responded to the call of the Government to put the teeth of conscripts in condition to render them fit for the service. Indiana stands among the first states in this work.

Many difficulties have had to be met in the conduct of the college this year because of the unusual conditions and we feel that they have been met squarely and fairly and that the work of the present session has been really the best of any year in our history. Students have seemed impressed with the seriousness of the times and have worked accordingly.

We feel that the coming few years are to be very important in dental education and that the demand for trained dentists is to be much greater than ever before. We hope to have a full class in the coming year and ask your hearty support for that end.

With very kindest regards and best wishes,

INDIANA DENTAL COLLEGE,

FRED-R.

N.B. - We are always thankful for dissociated teeth.
